LET JOHHNY HAYES WIN.

This is what Bat Masterson says: "Doesn't it seem about time for the to fix matters up so that Johnny Haves could cop one of the big events? Hayes, to the great joy of his New York friends, grabbed the big race over in England a year or so ago, for which he was given a tremendous blow-out by the Irish-American Athletic Society of New York when he got back home. Hayes' victory in England might have been a fluke. In the light of subsequent races against Porando it no doubt was, but what of it? Supposing Dorando, St. Yves, Svanberg, Longboat, and other Marathon runners can beat Hayes-that isn't any reason why the latter shouldn't be allowed to win a race once in a while, or, at any rate, be permitted to finish in the money, All the other runners have had their turn at winning, and there is no reason why Hayes should not be given his. Hayes wants to get himself a manager who can insist on having his turn when the shoo-in is arranged.'
